Greetings to All!

It is with immense pride and excitement that we present to you the latest edition of our college newsletter. This issue encapsulates the vibrant tapestry of academic and co-curricular activities that our institution has undertaken over the past six months, from August to January. Throughout this period, our college has truly emerged as a hub of intellectual discourse and innovation.

Throughout this period, we have had the honor of hosting a variety of esteemed speakers and subject experts who shared their knowledge through a series of enriching seminars. These events have not only expanded our perspectives but have also nurtured an environment of critical thinking and active engagement among both students and faculty.

The Department of Economics played a crucial role by organizing a ICSSR sponsored national seminar that brought together experts and scholars from various institutions. This event facilitated vibrant discussions on current economic issues and trends, fostering collaboration and the exchange of ideas vital for navigating today's rapidly evolving landscape.

In addition to our academic pursuits, we were honored to welcome the NAAC peer team, whose visit underscored our commitment to excellence in education. Their feedback and observations will undoubtedly guide us as we strive for continuous improvement and uphold our standards of quality.

We also want to highlight the dedication of the NSS cell and other departments, whose efforts have been pivotal in promoting social responsibility and community engagement. Our NSS volunteers have actively participated in cleaning drives and various awareness initiatives, exemplifying their commitment to making a positive impact in our community. Their enthusiasm and dedication truly reflect the core values of our college.

Furthermore, we have prioritized the professional development of our students and the ADRE aspirants within the community by organizing comprehensive training and coaching sessions. These sessions, along with mock tests, have been instrumental in preparing our students for success.

This newsletter is more than just a collection of events; it is a testament to the collective efforts, achievements, and spirit of our college community. We invite you to explore the highlights within and celebrate our shared milestones. Thank you for your continued support and engagement as we embark on this exciting journey of learning and growth together!
